Linda Stanley: National Park Trekker

Linda Stanley enjoys the outdoors and each summer plans a vacation with her adult children and her parents that usually take them through a National Park. “The memories we have are priceless,” she says, “and, it would be great if I could visit every national park in the United States in my lifetime.” Thus far they have been to most of the major ones along with Alaska, Banff, Canada and a road trip around the state of Washington. Plans for this year aren't final yet but she is sure they will have a great time wherever they go. “I'm considering a rafting trip down the Colorado River but so far only my dad has agreed to go,” she says.

One of the more unusual things she has done on a vacation was to travel a zip line over the jungle with her husband (and fellow Rotarian) Paul when they visited Puerto Vallarta, Mexico a couple of years ago. “It was really fun,” she says, but I had to talk Paul into it.

Linda was born in Terre Haute and attended Riley Elementary, Glenn Jr. High and Gerstmeyer H.S. where she was valedictorian. She attended ISU and graduated Summa Cum Laude earning both a bachelors and masters degrees in mathematics and economics.

Fearless in the wilds but not in the classroom might be another headline for Linda's story. She notes that she was a Math major, not English, so even today speaking and writing make her nervous. “My plan was to teach but after trying that 3 times at various grade levels, I gave it up to change career paths to my current passion which is financial advisor developing goals and objectives with clients who are always motivated contrary to students in secondary schools!”

Linda has worked for 19 years with Smith Barney where she is a First Vice President-Wealth Management, Financial Planning Specialist and Senior Investment Management Specialist and has training and experience with private portfolio money management and asset allocation.

She enjoys her occupation and says, “Many times I wonder how I have been so fortunate to be able to have a career where I can achieve a high level of (Continued on page 2) success without moving out of the area. It allows me to constantly learn new things, meet new people, and never get bored. What a job!!" Another reason to enjoy her work place is that Smith Barney is where she met her husband, Paul.

One of her pet peeves is to hear someone belittle and underestimate the value and potential of Vigo County and the surrounding area. "I love it here and plan to stay for the duration," she says.

Linda enjoys growing things and likes the hot summers. After work hours she prefers to "dig in the dirt" to see what she can grow. She especially likes to plant and tend vegetables and considers flowers to take more of a design skill than she has. "My goal is to move to a country place where I won't run out of spaces to plant and watch the turkey and deer roam the woods from my back porch".

Her other passion is family. She has a daughter, Krista, and son, Ryan, who both graduated from Purdue as engineers. Linda tries to attend all the home Purdue football games with them and has even gone to the Rose Bowl, Outback Bowl and Citrus Bowl to follow the team.

Linda has been the Rotary Treasurer for three years and in addition to her Rotary involvement, is on the Terre Haute Family Y Board and had been a trustee of the YWCA.
